File - C:\Users\Vanessa\Desktop\examenT4 y5\src\ejer1.java

```
System.out.println("Introduce la altura del alumno/x: ");
                                                                                                                                       System.out.println("El sexo introducido no es correcto")
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         System.out.println("f"+totalF+"m"+totalM+"t"+totalClase);
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    float totalClase=(mediaF+mediaM)/(contF+mediaM);
                                                                         float altM = entrada.nextFloat();
                                                                                             mediaM= mediaM+altM;
 mediaF= mediaF+altF;
                                                                                                                                                                                                               float totalF= mediaF/contF;
                                                                                                                                                                                                                          float totalM= mediaM/contM;
                                                                                                                                                                                }while (sexo == salir); —
                                          else if (sexo == m) {
                                                                                   contM++;
                                                                                                                                                                                                      //operaciones
                                                                                                                             else {
```

File - C:\Users\Vanessa\Desktop\examenT4 y5\src\ejer2.java

```
System.out.println("Despues de 1000 tiradas tenemos");
                                                                                               for(int i = 1000; i==0; i++){
File - C:\Users\Vanessa\Desktop\examenT4 y5\src\ejer2.java

36
37
38
40
41
42
42
42
43
44
45
for(int i = 1000; i==0; i++) 44
45
int apos= apos *2;
47
48
48
49
50
51
System.out.println("Desp
55
54
56
```